History

It was one of the most fertile periods in contemporary Italian cinema and saw the explosion of celebrity culture. The economic boom helped to encourage new fashions, fun and rejection of the rules.

American films depicted and at the same time acted as a catalyst for this vast social mosaic.

Famous stars from Hollywood moved the sets to Rome. Via Veneto filled up with stars, nobles, Eastern princes and billionaires.

Fiat 500 and Vespa scooter were already symbols of those years as well as shapes and lines were smooth, curve, soft.

“La dolce vita” by Fellini told the story and paved the way, creating a legendary scene

The Visconti ROMA 60's collection intends to celebrate those year, with a timeless, fascinating watch.

Note

Opera Watch has a very special dial, which is multilayer: top dial is hanged up the ground level with a couple of harms.

Visconti has been able to join technical complexity of the watch, with beautiful design, keeping itself faithful to its Italian Design DNA and being able to offer an important watch at a very competitive price.
